Most buyers ignore that content

57%

agreed that much of the material they receive from vendors is useless⁴.

& 97%

said it was important that vendor websites had relevant content that spoke to their company⁵.

That's why successful sellers use personalized content to engage buyers

88% of the most successful B2B marketers surveyed report prioritizing the audience's informational needs over promotional messaging⁶

& 74% craft their content for specific customer journey stages⁶

The three keys to successful personalization:

1. Know your buyer and where they are in the customer journey
2. Make the messaging relevant — address your buyer's pain points AND the current business environment
3. Curate content carefully — send only relevant material

Customers who use the Seismic Storytelling Platform™ for personalization see results:
